

John Radkowski

John Radkowski is the Executive Director of Research Services at AUS, where he leads the university's research administration and technology transfer functions. He specializes in research governance, sponsored programs, and the development of effective systems and processes to support externally funded research.

Prior to joining AUS, he held senior leadership roles at Khalifa University, including Director of Research Services and Director of the Office of Sponsored Programs. His career also includes more than a decade at the University of California, San Francisco, where he served in leadership positions such as Director of Government and Business Contracts and Director of Contracts and Grants.

With experience spanning both the US and the UAE, he has developed and implemented frameworks for research funding, compliance and institutional collaboration. He is committed to strengthening research environments by enabling faculty success, ensuring regulatory integrity, and building sustainable research programs through strong administrative foundations and strategic partnerships.

